DAMAGES ASSESSED AGAINST MR. SHOOK. HIS ATTACK ON MAYOR AND KENDALL IN THE MORTON HOUSE.

Sheriff Davidson and a jury sat in the Oyer and Terminer Court room last evening to assess the damages in two suits brought by Benjamin A. Mayor and Charles Kendall respectively against Sheridan Shook, each of whom claimed $20,000 on the altegation that on March 2, 1885, at the Morton House, they were assunted and beaten by the defendant, bruised and injured and placed in great jeopardy. The defendant having made no answer te the complaint, judgment had been taken for the plaintiff in the Superior Court with a direction to the Sheriff to ascertain the amount of damages. The stery as told by Mayor, who is a young man afflicted with consumption and lives on his money in Stoneridge, Ulster County, N. Y., and by Kendall, who is eupleyed in the Ordnance Department of the United States Army, was that they entered the bar-room of the Morton House on the afternoon of the day mentioned and Mayor told Kendall that he had seen Henry Fielding, one of the bar-keeper resented this and called Mayor a linr, and the latter intimated that the bar-keeper was a thief. The latter jumped from behind the counter tand pursuing the two young man into the hall struck Mayor several times.

from behind the counter tand pursuing the young men into the hall struck Mayor several times.

Sheridan Shook, General George A. Sheridan, Commissioner Jacob Hess, Brent Goode and Justice Soisn B. Smith were drinking together at a table and, according to their testimony, Mr. Shsok arose, saying that he would not have a disturbance in the house and sought to separate the combatants. The plaintiffs swore that he struck them and that they were badly bruised and driven into the street through the Fourteenth-st. entrance. Mr. Shook and several witnesses deposed that Kendall raised his arm and knocked off General Sheridan's hat and that the latter used no unnecessary violence in helping to expel the young men. There was a conflict of testimony in regard to the number of drinks that the latter had taken, but they maintained that they were sober though they took one drink at the bar and Mayor, by advice of his physician had taken sherry and egg four times previously that day. Kendall had lost a pocketbook containing $100 a few days before in the Morton House barroom and baving advertised for it had been called upon by Mayor who told him that he had seen the barkeeper pick it up. C. D. Briggs appeared for the defendant. The jury, after a brief conference, assessed the damages at $100 each on each complaint.

STIRRING UP A BUTCHER'S HORSE.

A sober-visaged horse, attached to a butcher's eart bearing the card of Lippan & Danzig Brothers, butchers, Nos. 10 and 12 Second-ave., stood at First ave. and Third-st. yesterday afternoon, occasionally picking up wisps of straw from the sidewalk, and apparently musing on the question whether or not life is worth living, from an equine point of view, in such hot weather. A number of small boys were playing ball in the street. The horse raised no jobjection until the ball hit him a whack in the jaw which almost knocked out two of his best teeth. He then came to the conclusion that the street was not large enough for a decent, self-respecting horse and a crowd of ball-playing small boys, and started on a run toward the East River. The first jump upset and completely demortalized August Mannerke, age nine, of No. 117 East Third-st., who was not, however, seriously injured. At Avenue-A and Third-st Dr. Samuel Kobn, of No. 125 Second-ave., had left his baggy in charge of his colored coachman while, he went into Henry Schmidt's drug store. The cart struck one of the wheels of the buggy, breaking it all to pieces, and pitching the negro coachman head foremost on the sidewalk. Had he landed on any other part of his anatomy he would probably have been seriously injured. The collision threw the runaway out of his course and he tried to crawl into the window of the drug store. By this time the police had arrived on the seene, and after extracting the horse's head from between a gas jet and a flaming red globe, led him back to his owners' store.

DR. RUFUS H. GILBERT BURIED.

The funeral of Dr. Rufus H. Gilbert was held yesterday at his home, No. 464 West Seventy-third-st. Upon the coffin rested a wreath bearing the inscription "Humanity's friend." By its side on a table stood a model of the first elevated road, and at its foot were the testimonials handsomely tramed that he had received from societies, colleges and the United States Government. The Rev. Dr. Morgan Dir conducted the services, assisted by the Rev. Dr. D. F. Warren, of Philadelphia. Dr. Dir, after reading the service, spoke eloquently of the life work of Dr. Gilbert, of his genial nature, his renown as a surgeon and an inventor, and asked the question: "Why is it that Dr. Gilbert was not among the wealthiest of our citizens, and in the bostion that his successful invention of the elevated road entitled him to I leave this question for others to answer." The pallbearers were Drs. conard, Freer and Turbell, Charles Clayton, R. J. leane and A. O. Rowe. The burial was at Trinty Cametery and the services at the grave were conducted by Dr. Warren. DR. Jacob Sharp and Superintendant White, of the Dry Dock line of street cars, held a consultation on Saturday in the office of John M. Scribner, the attorney of Mr. Sharp, and the result was that an agreement was made whereby Mr. Sharp was tohave the privilege of riding rough-shod over the Dry Dock tracks at Ann-st. and Broadway. Mr. Sharp wished to run his Bleecker-st. cars down Broadway and around the Post Office, thence to Beekman-st, to Fulton Ferry, and on the return trips through Ann-st. directly to Broadway. Superintendent White communicated this arrangement to his employes, but one of them misunderstood the order. The result was a lively time for a few minutes on Sunday, and the arrest of two of Sharp's men, who were bailed out by him. Yesterday the work of connecting the lines went on without interruption. Two policemen kept an eye on matters.

NOT GUILTY, BUT BEATEN BY HIS WIFE.

Peter Schauer, a porter, living at Chrystie and Hester sta, returned to his wife and three children yesterday morning with the intelligence that he had obtained a week's vacation, which he intended to avail himself of unburdened by family cares. Mrs. Schauer while reluctantly approving his determination, followed him. At Grand and Chrystie ats. her suspicions became facts when she saw her husband joined by a woman fairer than herself. She followed the couple to the Third-ave, elevated station, and when they were about to ascend the steps she came up to them. The woman got away with a somewhat disarranged dress, and after her flight Mrs. Schauer gave ner husband, who had witnessed his companion's rough usage with open-monthed wonder, a sound thrashing with her parasol, and then caused his arrest. He was taken to the Essex Market Police Court, but Justice O'Reilly decided that he heen guilty of no act against the Code of Criminal Procedure and discharged him. His wife had become pacified and permitted him te leave the court in her wake.

MEETING OF THE BRIDGE TRUSTEES.

Wice-President J. Adriance Bush, of the Bridge trustees, called that body to order yesterday for the August meeting, but owing to the lack of a quorum no business was transacted. Those present were Mayor Low, Controller Brinkerhoff, ex Mayor Howell. Edward Annan, A. S. Swan, H. K. Thurber, John Mollenhauer, J. C. Hendrix and E. J. Osborn. For the first time since the Bridge trustees came into existence in 1875, J. S. T. Stramshan, the expresident, was not present. Two new trustees took their seats, Messrs, Annan and Mollenhauer. A vacancy exists among the trustees for this city by the refusal of John T. Agnew to accept a reappointment.

MR. SMYTH RAISES A BREEZE. HIS MANY COMPLIMENTS TO THE PRESBYTERY-

HIS MANY COMPLIMENTS TO THE PRESETTERY—

RESIGNATION OF A MINISTER.

The spirit of the Rev. Charles B. Smyth animated the session of the Presbytery of the United Presbyterian Church last night. The nuceting was held in the Jane Street Church. The Rev. Dr. J. H. Andrews presided. Mr. Smyth accompanied by his daughter occupied a front seat. He is about to bring a suit against the Presbytery for the balance of his salary as minister of the One-hundred-and-sixteenth Street Church, to which the Presbytery appointed him. It was reported that a resolution would be made to expel him from the Presbytery. He brought five complaints against different members of the Presbytery and announced his purpose of contesting his rights in the highest courts of the State.

"I am glad that Brother Smyth intends to take his trombles out of our meetings," said the flev. Dr. White, of the Charles Street Church. "We shall not then be burdened with them any more."

"I have a special complaint against your actions to make here," reforted Mr. Smyth, and Dr. White sat down. The Presbytery prefused to have the complaint readined Mr. Smyth retained it. A memorial fromgthe One-hundred-ani-sixteenth Street Church against him brought Mr. Smyth again to his feet and he announced that it it was read his complaint against Dr. White must be read or he would have it published in every paper is the land. The Presbytery was shaken at this threat.

"Let him go to the papers," said Dr. Campbell, a minister with a brown wig, shaking his cane fiercely at Mr. Smyth.

"This is not a Christ-like gathering, Brother RESIGNATION OF A MINISTER.

Mr. Smyth.

"This is not a Christ-like gathering, Brother Moderator," said Mr. Patterson, a gray-haired minister.

"This body is becoming a scandal to New-York."

The Moderator decided that all complaints should be referred to a special committee. Mr. Smyth then announced that he had complaints against the Rev. Messrs. J. B. Clapperton, A. D. McClenahan and J. C. Scott, of Hoboken.

boken.

Mr. Scott at once arose and presented his resignation as pastor of his church owing to a difficulty in it. Mr. Soyth wanted a more detailed statement of the difficulty. The Rev. Mr. Biddle thought that Mr. Scott's resignation was "as funny as one of Josh Billings's jokes," and that "he ought to explain the kick or stick to his church, as Mr. Snoyth had, and bring the members into line," The Presbytery decided to accept Mr. Scott's resignation. The Rev. A. H. Harshaw was then installed pastor of the Jane Street Church and the Presbytery adjourned until to-day.

NEWS FROM THE SUBURBS.

LAMONT NEAREST 10 THE PRESIDENT.

LAMONT NETREST 10 THE PRESIDENT.

Washington one patch to The Cincinnati Enquirer.

President Cleveland has been at the helm long enough to make plain that he is a law unto himself. Members of his Cabinet cannot anticipate what he may do until he acts. All treat him with a deference born of fear. From the start he held the rudder, and gave no member of his political household any rope save Bayard. This was sufficient to hang him. To-day the Fremier is lassaced, and, instead of making demands, now entreats. The President has no friendships; he has no associates. The his nightly ride, the only diversion he takes, his comparion is Lamont. This young man is a shadow. The President rarely moves without lim. He is a powerful intermediary, and the Boswell of the new dispensation. Members of the Cabinet court him while jealous of his power. Senators cringe before him because of his access to the throne. Lamont is greater than the Cabinet. The secret of this young man's power is the President's secret and his own. It cannot be mind-controlling matter, because the President has equal intellectual development. In person Lamont is quite diminutive. In weight he would not tip a quarrer himdred weight above an even hundred. He is wiry, active, cunning and secretive. His complexion is fair, his cranial growth sandy, his face sharp and inclined to be angular, his eye blue, with a general expression of sadness. He is a good listener. He takes but little. He seems to be methodical in his conduct of business, and quite as agreeable as an exceedingly reticent man can be. In a crowd he would not excite attention, much less curlosity, and yet this man is nearer the Freedent flamence than any of his friends. Members of the Cabinet down here in the discusses statecraft, policy and appointments. Even you much excite attention, which have a conduct the cicrical office routine. Not so with Lamont, with him the President discusses statecraft, policy and appointments. Even two members of the Cabinet ow their elevation to his good offices.

THAT SLIGHTLY TOO CLEVER MR. HIGGINS. Thomas M. Kesler was yesterday kicked out of a position he hant held for years. He was almost distracted over the humiliation. When he recovered from the first effects of the shock he began to pine away, and now you could blow him over. This is a copy of the document he yesterday received:

Gauger for this district on the 2d of February, 1882. On the 1st of March, less than a month after, he resigned his position. James J. Thomas has been the incumbent for some years past, but the new Secretary doesn't seem to have caught on to that fact. The elation of getting the innings has disturbed the alleged mind of the Administration, and it has mixed these gaugers up dreadfully. The only relief for our poors friend Kesler will be a draft for salary in full from March 1, 1882, to July 9, 1885, three years, four months and eight days.
